

Gordon Square in London will be the site of the memorial statue of Noor Inayat Khan. The memorial will be the first for a woman of Asian ancestry in the UK.

Shrabani Basu, Author of Spy Princess: The Life of Noor Inayat Khan, in Gordon Square, which will be the site of the Noor memorial.

This memorial for SOE agents killed during WWII is located on the Albert Embankment in central London. The bust of Violette Szabo was sculpted by Karen Newman, who has been commissioned to create the Noor Inayat Khan memorial.

This bust of Indian writer, musician, and artist Rabindranath Tagore was unveiled in Gordon Square in July 2011.

Detail of the bust of Violette Szabo and the plaque memorializing SOE agents killed during WWII.

